THE KAREN WOMEN.

They Have Peculiar Ideas of Personal Beauty and Adornment.

Like the Siamese, the Karen women are not good to look upon and do not improve their appearance by the style of ornaments they affect. When very young their ears are pierced to admit a small round stick, which is gradually lacerated in diameter until by the time the little girls have become women their ears easily accommodate a two inch disk of blackened bamboo. This stretches the ears hideously, as may be imagined, and when the ornament is laid aside temporarily—well, picture the thin strip of pendant ear lobe! As a rule, the Karen women wear their hair long, but, like the Siamese, some cut it short and others again keep in cropped close, except on top of the head, where it is allowed to grow to its natural length, which does not add to their beauty. No means overabundance of good looks. Sometimes the unmarried woman wears a breast cloth, but for the most part men and women wear a loin girdle, and sometimes even that is set aside in hot weather.

To thoroughly appreciate Japanese women one should begin the far eastern trip at the Malay peninsula, journeying thence through Siam, Annam, Cambodia and China, though I confess to preferring a good looking Chinese girl to the alleged Japanese beauty. Bracelets and necklaces of bamboo are the other usual ornaments, except when they can afford a narrow neck-band of silver, which protects, so it is believed, against many evils that lurk along life's wayside, even in the jungle. The men also wear this neck-band and bamboo an inch in diameter and about four inches long stuck through their ear lobes. Some of the boys are rather good looking. They wear their hair in a knot like a horn on the forehead or at one side or the other of the head or on top, and usually a turban crowns the topknot. All in all the Karens differ not a great deal from the Siamese in physiognomy, but the people in this section of the far east shade into one another rather easily.—Casper Whitney in Outing.

To Save One's Bacon.

"To save one's bacon"—that is, to make a narrow escape—is supposed to refer to the Dunmow fitch. For many centuries it was the custom at Dunmow, in England, to present a fitch of bacon to a married couple of twenty years' standing who would make oath on the Scriptures that they had never had a quarrel. To come close to a quarrel without an actual rupture was, in the popular dialect, "to save one's bacon."

Every Bit as Good.

"Have you a belt that will go about my waist?" asked the young lady with a smile as she entered the dry goods store.
"No, but I have something just as good," replied the young man who formerly worked in a drug store.—Yonkers Statesman.
